ORIGIN

the Andartes have been using glass mines which defy 25X1X6 detection by mine detectors. A number of such mines, believed to be of Russian menufacture, were discovered north of Larissa during the latter part of January. The mines were said to be modeled after those made by Germany during the last stages of World War II.

2. The captain of a Mine Detecting Squad discovered the mines after a careful watch following numerous deaths. An Andarte posing as a farmer was caught planting them in the road. The latter stated he was paid a certain amount for each mine he planted in the roadway.
